The bridge is the deside of the business men and the rallway officials were favorably impressed with this idea. The building of this extension will depend upon the attitude of the Norwich, Jewett City and Voluntown Railway company which holds the charter over that street. If the Connecticut company which holds the charter over that there be an extension of that line 2,100 feet up Whitaker hill for the accommodation of residents beyond the end of the present line. There are thirty houses there which would be accommodated.

The Maplewood extension was also looked over as was the mentioned extension through Boswell avenue and the running of a line into the new park. Mr. Leary was most favorably impressed with the park and the possibilities in that delightful spot.
